While we live in an age of tremendous change - we're also in an era of unbelievable opportunity. As the old structures and systems crumble, we are being offered a golden moment to install new, expansive models. Join us for CSU's Got Talent as special guest speaker Elatia Abate unpacks how we can strategize now to create inclusive, mutually-beneficial frameworks that release the "every man for himself" structures of the past, and welcome in a new era that prioritizes fulfillment, creativity, and impact for everyone.

About Elatia Abate

I help humans and companies around the world thrive in the face of great disruption, prepare for the ever-changing future ahead, and design new ways to create growth, scale, and fulfillment, even in the face of upheaval. Since leaving my high-flying executive career in 2013, I've immersed myself in the data and research around the future of work, business and life as we know it – and the systemic shifts required to make solutions possible. As a result, I've created a series of strategies, tools, frameworks, and methodologies with a simple goal: to help individuals and corporations build resilience and flexibility. With these tools at their disposal, they can thrive among the often-unpredictable shifts unfolding across industries, cultures, and technologies.
